Personal Notes

Last week I had an unusual and interesting trip . . . to San Quentin AND return! It was that return that was comforting, for I shouldn't like to call San Quentin home.

In addition to the 4300 who do call the convict castle home (against their will) there are others who live in a regular village, complete with post office, city hall, etc., within the gates of the prison. They are the families of the prison guards and officials who live in neat, but drab homes overlooking the bay. As someone remarked on the night of my visit, "this would have made a dandy spot for a real estate subdivision."

Unfortunately the inmates don't get the view.

But they do enjoy enough other recreational and educational rehabilitation advantages to make San Quentin nationally famous as a model prison, and this despite the fact that the cell blocks now accommodate twice the number of men for which they were designed.

Reason for this praiseworthy reputation is Warden Clinton Duffy, a progressive minded man who regards a prison term more as an opportunity for rehabilitation than as a period of tortured punishment.

Duffy, incidentally, was born in San Quentin, where his father was a guard. The inmates like and respect him . . . and that's the unanimous opinion of inmates with whom I talked freely.

★ ★ ★

Having spent a year's term of imprisonment in German and Hungarian P.O.W. camps during the war, I was interested in this glimpse of San Quentin. In Germany we used to argue whether it would be better to have a definite, five-year term in S. Q. or the indefinite P.O.W. sentence. Now, I'll definitely take S. Q.

★ ★ ★

The thing that clinched my decision was the sight of inmates unloading a truck full of milk cans, and of the menu for the prison dinner. Further persuasion was added by a trip through the classrooms, library and handicraft shops where inmates spend much of their confinement. They had everything imaginable, and enough variety to satisfy every sort of taste and talent.

★ ★ ★

A boy I knew in Germany went a little nutty after spending a couple of weeks counting the number of barbs on the 10 ft. fence around our compound.

★ ★ ★

A hundred years or so ago there was an Italian social scientist named Lombroso who wrote books and books about the "criminal type." Lombroso used to say that there was a definite type, identifiable by shape of the skull, big ears, low brows, coarse features, etc., which regardless of environment, always turned into criminals. His ideas were popular ,and for a long time they were held to be true.

It's too bad that Lobroso wasn't on our tour (sponsored by a journalism club) to San Quentin, because he would have seen the mistakes of his theory exposed. The men and boys incarcerated there looked just like the men and boys in college, church clubs, business offices, and in short, just like you and me. Why shouldn't they? You and I are just lucky to have been brought up in decent homes, and to have had enough good breaks and enough moral training to keep us from making the mistakes that lead to crime.

Every taxpayer of California can be proud of San Quentin and Warden Duffy's program, and every taxpayer can be assured that the money he spends to support the prison program is well spent. But we can do more. When a man is released from the prison he is often a new individual, thanks to the warden's rehabilitation and trade training program. We can offer him a job, help him to overcome his past and complete the job of returning a citizen to a useful place in society.

A Nautical Party

A day of unusual fun was enjoyed by a group of 'teen agers Sunday, when the Redwood City Sea Scouts entertained their young lady friends at a "Date Cruise" aboard their ship, the "Challenger 145."

The group met at the yacht harbor with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Slater, who accompanied them on the trip, and Mr. John Isaac, mate in charge. After spending the afternoon sailing in the Bay, a pot-luck supper was served at the harbor clubhouse followed by dancing. Warner Britschgi, skipper, joined them at supper. Dancing was continued later at the scouts' land base, located over the former USO Bldg.

On Saturday night the "Flying Cloud Ship 128" from San Francisco with 20 men aboard visited the Redwood City scouts at their land base, where the men spent the night. In the morning they hoisted sail for San Francisco.

Stolen Safe Found

The safe taken from the new Lester's Supermarket in San Carlos Wednesday night's burglary was recovered Sunday afternoon on the Timothy Hopkins Estate, Middlefield Rd., Menlo Park.

The safe had been smashed open with a sledgehammer and the money, estimated at $2300, was gone. Three keys remained in the bottom of a money drawer.

According to Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore, the safe was found by Fred Mills, 15 Middlefield Rd., who had crossed the street to shoot some hawks. The safe was behind an old toolshed, about 150 feet from the road.

Blom's Explanation

City Mgr. E. W. Blom Saturday defended on two grounds an expenditure by the city council of $18,500 to reassess the city.

1. He said that neither he nor the council knew if Assessor Martin J. Flynn's San Mateo County figures were accurate. Flynn had offered the use of county figures covering the city for $2500.

2. Blom said that the city will soon be collecting taxes of approximately $400,000 a year. Since it is collecting so much, he claimed, the council is justified in spending $18,500 to determine that collections are on an equitable basis.

Blom was urged at the last council session to make a statement on the council's position.

He said that neither he nor the council would say that the county valuations were inequitable, but that at the same time they were not assured that they were correct.

Councilman Floyd D. Granger in urging Blom to make the statement claimed that it should not be given in the nature of an apology but rather as an explanation. A Tribune story pointed out that when the $18,500 expenditure was authorized no discussion was made of Flynn's alternative offer.

Blom said that the decision was not made hastily. On May 27, he recommended to council that a revaluation be authorized. At that time he explained that the city is held by its charter to a $1 tax rate. Present evaluations set the city's worth at approximately $19,000,000 and a tax rate of $1 applied against this evaluation doesn't provide enough taxes to run the city government.

Flynn later proposed that the city use his valuation figures. The county assessor said his office prepares two sets of figures—one giving the actual worth of real estate and improvements in the city and the other the figures the county uses in charging its taxes. The county takes approximately 40 per cent of its real value figure to obtain its assessed valuation scales.

Blom pointed out that the city must assess taxes at a much higher evaluation than the county to obtain the funds it needs. He explained that any inequalities in the county system would merely be increased should the city decide to multiply the county's actual value figure by a higher percentage to obtain required income.

County assessed values are so low, he claimed, that minor inequalities in real value appraisals—should they exist—could easily be overloaded by taxpayers. The same inequalities—should they exist—could not be ignored if they were multiplied by the city, he said.

Next year, Blom continued, the city will probably need approximately $400,000 to conduct its business in comparison with the $280,000 it received this year. The figure for this year was too small to actually run the city and money was taken from a postwar fund to make up the difference.

"From this increase," Blom explained, "it can be seen that we are rapidly approaching the year when it will take possibly a half million dollars to run the city." Since the city will soon be collecting such heavy taxes, he claimed, it is justified in determining that it collects its taxes on an equitable basis.

The city, he said, has two main jobs:

1. To collect taxes fairly, and

2. To give the tax payer 100 cents back for every dollar he is charged.

In emphasizing that council had studied every means of obtaining an equitable assessment, it studied two other plans, Blom said, before deciding to hire the J. M. Cleminshaw Co. of Cleveland to make the revaluation. The other plans:

1. A blanket percentage increase of present valuations. This was discarded because it was believed such a maneuver would merely increase what inequalities exist in the present city evaluations. No city revaluation has been made since the 1920s, and Blom said that undoubtedly some inequalities have developed since then.

2. Having other firms in the state make the revaluation. This plan was discarded because there were no California firms prepared to make evaluations.

In backing the decision to hire the Cleminshaw firm, Blom said that the Ohio concern was a recognized leader in municipal evaluation process and that he "defied" anybody to show him a better one.

Blom further claimed that Flynn's offer meant that the city would pay the county yearly for an evaluation service. Once made by the Cleminshaw firm, the city probably would not make another for 10 years, Blom said, and in that time it would have paid the county just about what it had paid Cleminshaw.

By terms of a contract between the Cleminshaw firm and the city, the firm must instruct city employes in proper methods of keeping the assessment roll up to date once it is completed. Blom predicted that such a move would mean that the city would not need a revaluation again for at least another 10 years.

A Timely Warning

Chamber of Commerce Mgr. E. W. Butler Monday warned both customers and cleaning establishments to use caution after residents reported their cleaning had been picked up by persons using their names.

Butler urged that cleaners ask customers for identification in cases where no cleaning ticket is presented, and he suggested that customers demand a receipt when leaving clothing to be cleaned.

Commuter News

BY LOCOMOTIVE BILL

Whether one agrees or disagrees with City Manager Blom's views on the reevaluation program we are glad that he has given us the reasons for the approval of the contract by our city council. It is of course regrettable that this information could not have been given to the public prior to consideration by the council.

We say this because after reading Mr. Blom's statement it is our opinion that the reasons given are open to question and undoubtedly would have been argued before the council if the protestants had been offered the opportunity.

Our city manager gives two reasons and we are going to discuss them briefly. In reason No. 1 he says that neither he nor the council knew if Assessor Martin J. Flynn's San Mateo County figures were accurate.

In answering this we might ask if he or the council had questioned Flynn on this point and if the answer was that the figures were inaccurate then Flynn and the county should hire this reevaluation firm also.

As it is, Mr. Blom's statement casts a cloud over our county assessor's office and leaves John Citizen with the thought that possibly his property is not being assessed on an equitable basis by the county.

Blom's reason No. 2 is that since the city will soon be collecting taxes of approximately $400,000 a year the council is justified in spending $18,500 to determine that collections are on an equitable basis.

The answer to that reason also depends on the answer of our county assessor. If he says that the county figures are accurate then our feeling would be that of the frustrated citizen who after his home was burglarized to the extent of $18,500 complained to the police and was told to forget it that the burglar was coming back again for another $120,000 just as soon as he could get around to looking over the premises preparatory to making the snatch. And with that thought fellow victims we leave this subject — we hope forever.

A short time ago we wrote about the poor telephone service and wondered what could be done about it. We had in mind the plight of our fellow commuter, Herb Shepard whose house caught on fire recently and was unable to raise the operator in order to call the fire department.

Fortunately for Herb he was able to put the fire out himself. Which brings to mind the fact the telephone company maintains a fine public relations department and is rather sensitive to any criticism concerning its business.

E. C. Krase, the new local manager, has come to the defense of the company and asked Loco to assure the customers that an improvement in the service during the last few days has taken place and that by Dec. 14 a further improvement will occur when a portion of the exchange in Redwood City will go into dial operation.

He stated that the company was doing everything possible to expedite service in this area and that every available switchboard had been jammed into the present Redwood City exchange, further that operators had been brought in from outside the city in order that there would be no shortage of help.

Herb Caen, San Francisco columnist, the other morning writing under the title "San Francisco is where" stated: "The height of success is reached when you make enough dough to move down the country and spend the rest of your life griping about the fast Bayshore traffic and the slow commute trains." Yes sir! We always knew we were a success but shucks as far as that dough business is concerned, shake our jeans as we will, nothing seems to jingle or anything fall out. Could be Herb is misinformed. We'll see Caboose about that — he knows all the wealthy commuters.

A large crowd is looked for tomorrow evening at the Aviation Cafe when Dr. Howard C. Naffziger, eminent brain surgeon, addresses the commuters on the topic, "My Experiences and Observations Behind the Iron Curtain in Poland."

The Commuters Club annual Christmas jinks will be held this Dec. 16 at Bondys' Restaurant in Belmont. House Committee Chmn. George Raubinger states that tickets go on sale immediately and can be purchased from any member of the house committee. Members, their wives and guests are invited.

Del Monte Limited

Southern Pacific's Del Monte Limited is changing its schedule, effective Sunday, company officials explained Saturday.

The incoming run from Del Monte to San Francisco will make the following stops: San Jose 9:25 a.m., Palo Alto 9:45 a.m.; Redwood City 9:57 a.m., and Burlingame 10:15 a.m.

A Child Beater

John Cowgill, San Mateo County probation officer, Saturday charged Alfred E. Allen with inflicting an unjustifiable punishment which caused a child to suffer unduly. Allen, 34, 532 Arguello St., was arrested Wednesday night by Redwood City police after he had horsewhipped his 7-year-old "stepson," Kenneth Fortman.

Judge Thorpe set Allen's bail at $1000 cash and $2000 bond after the charge was read and set the time for Allen to enter a plea for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Besides entering the charge before Police Judge W. H. (Bud) Thorpe, Cowgill took other steps to straighten out the tangled life of the Central School pupil.

He learned that Allen, a Pacific theater war veteran, was suffering from jungle rot. In an effort to cure his disease, Allen had sent his common law wife, Evelyn, to work in a Palo Alto shop and had remained in the one room he had rented on Arguello St. Cowgill said Evelyn had not wanted to work.

To take care of this, the probation officer said he had obtained county relief funds for the family and had stopped the mother's employment so that she could take care of Kenneth.

In order to maintain his control over the lad, Cowgill Saturday made Kenneth a court ward. If he learns that the mother is still unable to care for her son, he can step in at any time.

Cowgill also said that the three principals and an infant son of Alfred Allen and Evelyn, David, were all living in one room in a boarding house. This housing condition, Cowgill claimed, resulted in young Kenneth taking orders from six to seven adults. The many different orders confused the child, Cowgill claimed, resulting in a more or less defiant youth. If it is at all possible Cowgill hopes to obtain more suitable living quarters for the family. Housing conditions being what they are, however, Cowgill wasn't too sure he could manage that.

Allen admitted to Cowgill that he had beaten the youngster on previous occasions but added, "We always talked it over afterwards," indicating to Cowgill that such a talk "squared" the matter between him and the boy.

Cowgill said he had been told that Allen was a member of a "very good" family in San Bruno.

Redwood City Police Officers Richard Fitzgerald and S. W. Ferrier, responding to a neighbor's call, arrested Allen Wednesday, relieving him of a riding crop with which he had raised welts on the lad's back, shoulders and legs.

They booked the crane operator at the San Mateo County jail and took the youngster to Dr. H. A. Clattenburg for treatment.

Kenneth's screams had caused neighbors to call police.

Cowgill described the beating as "one of the worst cases in my experience."

While in custody Allen said that "the kid needed punishment" and accused Kenneth of a number of misdeeds scarcely suitable for a child in the second grade.

The Green Thumbers' Corner

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

When neighbors write enthusiastically about a friend's garden, the day always seems a bit brighter. As I hinted yesterday, we're apt to forget our neighborly manners in the rush of things, and in overlooking or neglecting our neighbors, we're losers as much as they. Two heads are better than one, and a lot of them are better yet . . . that's why people with common garden interests, and a locale in common to boot, should get together often for trading notes. . . . When this happens, gossip and rumors can be replaced by facts.

This pleasant letter arrived from Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Lee of Oakland. "We believe we have found something which ought to be shared by everyone. Hidden away in a small backyard is one of the cleverest rock gardens we have ever had the opportunity of seeing.

"This garden is most unique in its structure and represents many years' work. Planned and built in its entirety by a single woman who lives by herself, who between sewing for a livelihood and planning and building this rock garden, deserves a little recognition. Her name is Mrs. Lakis, 508 Melrose Ave."

This friendly letter reminds that many are interested in rock gardens, with an American Rock Garden Society. Norman Taylor, in writing of such gardens remarks that it seems those living in a rocky situation will blast out and haul in loam for a "green sward," while those living where a lawn is the most obvious treatment will want to haul in rocks. "Men want what they have not." . . . But we all know there is more to it than that . . . for one thing, the rock garden is the right place for a long list of very fine alpine plants.

"The rock garden is a comparatively recent development in horticulture," says Taylor." Alpine plants, according to Paxton, have been grown in England since the 16th Century, but in those early days they were grown as pot plants in cold frames, or planted out in the flower garden, and not in rock gardens.

"The use of rockwork in gardens was introduced to the western world towards the close of the 17th Century — the idea coming from China and Japan.

"Unfortunately the motive that inspired the Chinese and Japanese in the construction of rockwork was not important with the practice, and the result was that in many European gardens, grottoes, cascades, caves and rockeries consisting of meaningless jumbles of rocks interspersed with soil were erected. Examples of a good idea gone wrong are still in evidence in so-called rock gardens that are nothing more than rock piles planted with unsuitable material.

"Apparently it was not until about the middle of the 19th Century that it occured to anyone that alpine plants and rockwork could be in any way connected. Nowadays it is so obviously an ideal combination that it seems unbelievable that the connection should have been missed so long."

One of the early rock gardens was made in London by Sir Joseph Banks who brought back some lava from Iceland. To this he added 40 tons of rock from the old Tower of London. There are people that will admire any darn thing, and so it was with this rock mass. They helped it along with contributions of flint and chalk. In time, brain coral, bricks and conch shells were piled on.

Moral, of course, consists in the point that if you're going to plant a rock garden try to be consistent in rocks, as well as plants. Don't put the chalk cliffs of Dover, the bricks of Brooklyn and the cobblestones from the old car tracks around a few pieces of oxidized outcropping and think you've got a suitable setting for some Dianthus alpinus.

Unless your principal interest is a quarry collection, you'd best stick to the rocks which might be found on one mountain.

Then the collection of plants which can be grown in such a setting will amaze your neighbors with their non-blatant beauty, and make for you an interesting hobby over the years.

The Recorder Is Busy

A sizeable increase in the amount of work handled in October of this year as compared with work handled in the same month last year was shown in figures released by the office of County Recorder T. Clark Rice Saturday.

Figures showed an increase of about 20 per cent in the number of papers handled: 4592 in October, 1945 to 5725 in October of this year, and an increase of about 40 per cent in fees received by the office, $6406.85 in 1945 to $10,384.90 in 1956.

The only decrease in the office work was shown in the marriage figures, which dropped from 141 in October of 1945 to 107 in October of 1946. The office also handled 79 service discharges during the past month.

Strohmeier Promoted

Ralph A. Strohmeier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Strohmeier of 123 Santa Clara St., has been promoted to staff sergeant, according to word received Monday from Army Air Forces on Guam.

Sergeant Strohmeier enter the army in 1943, and has been overseas for the past six months. He is stationed at Harmon Field, Guam.

He attended Commerce High School in San Francisco, before moving to Redwood City with his family in 1942.

Civic Interest League

Possibility of two new elementary schools in or close to Atherton were indicated at a meeting of the Atherton Civic Interest League Friday night.

The Redwood City District School Board has the money to buy a site for new elementary school within the city, Andrew J. Spinas, superintendent, declared.

He said the board was looking for a suitable site that could be purchased, preferably, by private sale. If the Civic League proposed or at least approved a suitable site, he indicated that the board probably would purchase it immediately. The board, he declared, wants an expression on the proposal from the people.

The league decided to look into the matter of finding a site which could be proposed to the board.

First preference listed by Spinas as a suitable site for the school is on Almandral Ave. at Austin Ave. Second preference, which he described as "just as good," is somewhere on Stockbridge Ave. He also mentioned sites on Selby Ln. or on part of the 17 acres now being condemned by San Mateo County as a site for the new juvenile home.

Five acres would be the preferred size of the new site, he declared. Spinas said that the school is badly needed because of increased population and overcrowding of existing schools.

He said the school board has $830,000 available for purchasing school sites and constructing new school buildings. The fund was augmented by a bond issue voted by the district last Winter.

Spinas declared that the funds probably would be better spent buying sites right now than constructing buildings, due to building complications. He commented that the purchasing power of the $830,000 has decreased sharply since the time the bonds were voted.

The Menlo Park School Board also is studying a proposal for a site for a new school to serve Atherton children in the Menlo Park district west of El Camino Real, Supt. O. H. Olson told the group.

He declared that the board was considering buying a site near Valparaiso Ave. and Santiago Ave.

John Parker, vice chairman of the league, who presided in Chmn. E. C. LaMontagne's absence, said LaMontagne would appoint a traffic committee to cooperate with Police Chief Ed Farrell. Chief Farrell suggested to the group that he would like to see such a committee appointed.

Among other things, Chief Farrell mentioned that Atherton stop signs are illegal. They are old-fashioned, he said, and, for example, have no reflectors to warn drivers at night.

M. D. Savage, Atherton commissioner of streets, made a report on recent sewer and street repairs.

The group voted to meet at 8 p.m. for future meetings. Next meeting was set for Dec. 4.

New Sheriff Raid

The Peanut Farm on Canada Rd. north of Woodside was the third "victim" in two nights of raids on slot machines by Sheriff James J. McGrath's deputies.

Sheriff's Deps. Everett Heagney and Jack Hosford Friday night confiscated two one-armed bandits, one a 5-cent and one a 10-cent machine, at the Peanut Farm, which is owned by Laroes Anderson.

Although it was the third gambling raid in two nights, Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter H. Moore said the raids were "routine" and was not a concerted campaign on gambling devices.

Wednesday night Heagney and Hosford confiscated two slot machines at the Pioneer Club in Woodside and two at Ramor Oaks, 2435 El Camino Real, south of Redwood City.

Complaints against the owners are expected to be drawn up by Dist. Atty. Gilbert D. Ferrell's office, it was reported.

A Large Fortune

Albert A. Gallenkamp, shoe store magnate who died Nov. 17, 1945, left an estate valued at almost $2,000,000, Appraiser James A. Lee reported here Saturday.

Lee appraised the estate of Gallenkamp, who lived at 401 El Cerrito Rd., Hillsborough, at $1,919,026.55. The estate includes $129,000 in cash, 80,295 shares of stock in the Gallenkamp shoe enterprise at $810,000, real estate in San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Glendale and Hillsborough at $977,000.

His widow, Helen, and the Crocker First National Bank of San Francisco, are executors of the estate. In his will, Gallenkamp left all community property to his widow. He also bequeathed her the Hillsborough home and 51 per cent of his shares in the Gallenkamp shoe enterprise.

He left 10 per cent of the residue to a sister, Irma Le Roy of Alameda, and 5 per cent to another sister, Elsie Cartwright Gruber of Cincinnati. The remaining 85 per cent set up a trust for family benefits. Income from the trust fund will revert to a son, Albert, of San Francisco.

Gallenkamps' will contained a specific provision that he was making no bequests to two former wives, Ruth and Annette, nor to his half-brother, Oscar, of Pasadena.

The Ravenswood Drive

Ravenswood School District has surpassed the half-way mark in its Community Chest drive, Lt. Col. Joseph L. Connolly, chairman, reported Monday. A total of $800 has been contributed out of the goal of $1500.

Colonel Connolly said the district drive will continue until the quota is reached.

Have You Any Books?

Fremont Elementary School in Menlo Park soon will have a library. The Menlo Park Parent-Teacher Assn. is sponsoring a book drive to collect books for the new library and is planning to contribute $25 a year to continue its development.

The book drive is now on and will continue until Nov. 15. Children in the school have been requested to bring books from home.

In addition, a call to the community has been made through Mrs. H. Artru, publicity chairman.

A drive also is on for articles for the annual PTA rummage sale, which will be held this year Nov. 22 and 23, at the Central School Auditorium.

Persons who will donate either books, or articles for the rummage sale may take them to 801 Hermosa Way in Menlo Park or 269 Oak Grove Ave., in Atherton. If they cannot deliver the articles they may call Mrs. Carl Noller, Palo Alto 9737, books, or Mrs. George Ackerman, Palo Alto 2-1852, rummage articles, and the donations will be picked up.

Declaring that there is a "definite" need for a library at Fremont School, Mrs. Artru pointed out that the only library available to Fremont children has been the one at Central School, a long ways from their homes. The new library will be placed in the school hallway for the present, because no other room is available.

The PTA has been contributing $25 a year to the Central School Library, and now will contribute $50 to both. Mrs. Noller is in charge of the book drive.

Proceeds from the rummage sale, an annual affair, will go into the PTA fund, from which improvements for the school are paid. Currently, the PTA is planning to purchase a sound movie camera for use by both Menlo Park schools.

Mrs. George Ackerman is in charge of the sale, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., both days.

At the monthly meeting of the PTA this afternoon, Mrs. Bess Morozof, school nurse, discussed the school health plan. Her talk was accompanied with movies and was followed by a question period. Seventh grade mothers were hostesses.

Dissatisfied Thieves

Miscellaneous articles were taken from four cars in East Palo Alto early Sunday morning by thieves who, dissatisfied with their "take," left part of the loot at the scene of successive thefts.

Mrs. Doris E. Baker, 944 University Ave., reported to sheriff's officers that a blanket and tools had been taken from her car. The blanket and the tools subsequently were found by Roy Lausten, 1966 University Ave., who reported the theft of a gas lantern and two fountain pens from two cars at his place.

The lantern taken from Lausten's cars was found when Mrs. Grace McBride, 1953 Capitol Ave., reported the loss of a $50 coat and a coffeemaker from her car. H. Larmour, 1941 Capitol Ave., also told sheriff's officers that tools had been removed from his automobile.

Sheriff's officers were trying to link the thefts to a burglary at the home of William Squires, 1058 Oak St. Burglars who removed a window screen to gain entrance took a pair of gloves and a fountain pen from a bedroom.

Surprise Stork Shower

A surprise stork shower was given in honor of Mrs. James Wilson of 327 6th Ave., recently at the home of Mrs. William Boulware, 111 Hilltop Dr., Redwood City, with Mrs. Stewart Bottema as co-hostess.

Clever table decorations, the work of the hostess, were individual cradles at each place and empty baby food cans, which were used as nut cups. Corsages of pink carnations tied with blue ribbons and a decorated cake completed the table decor. Games were played and prizes awarded.

Guests were Mrs. Joseph Dupret Jr. of San Carlos, Mrs. William A. Lynch, Mrs. Ralph Canete, the honored guest's mother, Mrs. J. DeSaunders, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Hilda Dixon, Mrs. Alvin Meads, Miss Thelma Dupret, Mrs. Lloyd Griffin, and Mrs. Lee Fisher, of Redwood City and Mrs. Frank MacFarland, Mrs. Edward Headinger, Mrs. J. Niefing, and Miss Rhoda Niefing of Palo Alto. Miss Willa MacPherson was unable to attend, but sent a gift.

A Confused Situation

The radio said it was a riot, but when sheriff's officers arrived at the scene, they found their main job was to introduce a couple of special deputy sheriffs to each other.

It all started when Richard Hocking, Brisbane fireman, noticed a flare burning on a car belonging to John Fassett, in front of the Fountain of Youth ice cream parlor, Brisbane, Sunday night.

Hocking told Fassett to take the flare pot off, that it might set the car on fire. Fassett, according to Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore, told Hocking to mind his own business. A couple of other men got into the argument and Special Dep. Sheriff Delbert Ferree tried to quiet it down.

Then along came Special Dep. Sheriff Harold J. Trafford. He told them all to shut up—and pulled his badge on Special Dep. Sheriff Ferree. That set off the fireworks, and when California Highway Patrol officers and regular sheriff's deputies cleared away the smoke, the score was:

One man with a cut lip. He refused treatment.

Special Dep. Sheriff Trafford with a black eye, and bruises on the ear, cheek and side of jaw. He was treated at South San Francisco Hospital.

And two special deputies now know each other.

A Student Jailed

A Stanford University student was arrested early Saturday morning after a chase through streets of Redwood City by an irate driver of a car whose fender the student is accused of smashing.

The student, Irving Rovens, 23, was released on $150 bail after he was booked at the county jail on charges of drunken driving, hit and run driving with property damage and drunkenness. He is scheduled to appear in the justice of peace court of Edward I. McAuliffe on Nov. 15.

Carmen J. Santozo, 23, of 1257 Mills St., Menlo Park, told California Highway Patrol officers that he had stopped his car on El Camino Real, about 100 feet south of the city line, preparatory to making a left turn. He said the car driven by Rovens hit his right rear fender, but did not stop.

Santozo said he gave chase to Rovens up and down side streets of Redwood City, finally caught him and took him to the highway patrol office where Rovens was arrested.

Hard to Take

The owner of the San Carlos Food Market on El Camino Real at Howard Ave. is very, very unhappy.

After delaying the opening of his market four months because of difficulty in getting glass for his plate glass windows, he's right back where he started from today as the result of an accident last Friday night.

The tragedy took place at 10 p.m. yesterday when a car driven by Walter Thomas, 48, of Redwood City, sideswiped a taxi which was double-parked in front of a highway bar. Thomas lost control of his autombile in the collision, and careened up over the sidewalk to crash into the front of the market. Three precious windows were shattered in the crash.

No one was hurt, but the market owner is sitting down for another four month wait.

The Woodside PTA

A real old-fashioned touch was added to the "box social" at the Woodside Scout Hall Friday evening when the lights went out and guests were forced to eat by candlelight. The huge success of the Woodside Parent Teacher's Assn. membership drive was the occasion for the celebration.

Fathers of the students were guests of honor and numbers were drawn by them to designate their box and also their dinner partner. The cleverly decorated boxes, baskets and hampers lent an extra note of festivity to the occasion, which already wore a holiday air due to the lighting arrangement of candles on the tables.

The theme for the evening's program was "Understanding Our School." Talks were given by Principal William S. Herbig, Mr. William Wallace Mein Jr., Mr. Hervey Clark, the Rev. John S. Meehan and the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Ward.

Mr. Herbig spoke on the school enrollment and the courses of study now being presented to Woodside school children. Mr. Clark explained plans for the contemplated new school building and the enlarging of the grounds.

The inspirational thought for the evening was given by Dr. Ward. Father Meehan added a solemn note to the occasion by speaking of the atomic bomb.

Mr. Mein introduced Mr. Phelps Hunter, who reported on the Woodside School Assistance Fund.

"This fund has been set up for the purchase of school equipment that would ordinarily overburden the normal budget," he said. "It has already purchased filing cabinets, athletic equipment, a mimeograph machine, an electric record player and furnished a teacher's room." He expressed the hope that Woodside residents would take an interest in this fund on behalf of the children of the community."

Motion pictures were shown under the direction of Mr. William Gahagan. They were "Man One Family" depicting the failure and fallacy of the Nazi master race idea, and "Our Neighbors Down the Road" a color film describing an automobile trip down the Pan-American Hwy.

Chairman and master of ceremonies for the program, Mr. Sam Eastman Jr., added a note of informality to the program, which promoted many questions and discussions between the audience and the speakers.

Menlo Need P.O.

The Menlo Park Post Office is looking for a new home.

Postmaster Harry Morey reported Saturday that the Federal Post Office Department is soliciting bids in hopes of leasing larger quarters for the post office. A space of 3500 square eet is being asked for, and bids must be submitted by Nov. 10.

PPersons owning large enough buildings or who could erect a suitable building were urged by Mr. Morey to submit bids. They should be sent to the Office of the Post Office Inspector, W. H. Hudson, Room 231, San Francisco 1.

Plans and specifications can be obtained from Morey. Qarters must be suitable to the Post Office Department, he declared.

"Many people in Menlo Park would like to see a new federal building erected here," Morey said, "but no federal action in the matter is seen at this date."

The present lease expires next April, the postmaster commented. It has been continued on a year-to-year basis. It could be extended month-by-month if necesary, pending a move to a larger building, he believes.

Fire Losses Mounting

Tabulations released by Redwood City firemen showed skyrocketing fire damage losses.

Between July 1 (beginning of the fiscal year), 1945, and Oct. 30, 1945, a total of $1515 was lost through fire damage in the city. During the same period for this fiscal year a total of $14,200 was lost through fires. During all of the 1945-46 fiscal year there was a fire loss of $16,977.

Of the $14,200 lost so far this fiscal year, $6500 was lost in a single fire at a cleaning establishment.

For the fiscal year so far the fire loss per capita is 93 cents this year, compared with a 72 cent figure for last fiscal year at this time.

They Oppose Pavilion

The Menlo Park-Atherton Real Estate Board has gone on record as approving the Santa Cruz Ave. Improvement Project and as opposing the proposed open-air dance pavilion, it was reported Monday.

The board, in a resolution adopted last week, declared that both the street improvements and the creation of a parking lot, proposed as part of the Santa Cruz Ave. project, would be "of vital importance to the future growth of Menlo Park."

In a second resolution, the board declared that for the city to permit a "public dance hall" within the city limits "would be definitely detrimental to the character of the community."

However, the board stated that it is not a political organ nor in any way a pressure group.

"The organization is interested in, and is working for, the welfare of the citizens of this district. In the two matters above mentioned and in all others pertaining to the general good of the community, the board urges the citizens of Menlo Park and Atherton to voice their opinions to their councils," it was asserted.

The board is in the process of formation as a new board within the California Real Estate Assn.

The Woman's Club

"Women must feel that they are important cogs in the wheel of politics" said Mrs. Hulda McGinn of San Francisco, state chairman of legislation for the California Federation of Woman's Clubs, when she addressed a large gathering of members of the Redwood City Woman's Club Friday afternoon on the subject: "After Election, Where De We Go From Here."

In stressing that women should study the affairs of state Mrs. McGinn said "The time has come when women should be heard. Politics has a definite effect on our lives," she continued, "and we should have a say in the new things going on and should demand more representation on government commissions."

Although not in favor of the equal rights bill, Mrs. McGinn nevertheless feels that women would add a "spiritual something" to government functions. "Men understand theory," she said, "but women's intuition is many times superior to theories."

Mrs. McGinn also discussed the eight hour employment law for women, and claimed there should be a warmer relationship between industry and labor, In closing she expressed her belief that there is a close relationship between the world of politics and the world of art and music and that futuristic paintings and discordant music eventually lead to world turmoil.

Mrs. McGinn was introduced by Mrs. Bard Berry.

During the business meeting with the president, Mrs. Park Q. Wray, presiding, the names of seven new members were read by Mrs. Fred Blase, membership chairman. This makes a total of 20 new members received into the club this Fall.

New members are Mrs. L. H. Billings, Mrs. J. S. Buist, Mrs. William A. Bibee, Mrs. Joseph O. Darius, Mrs. John Furnas, Mrs. Herbert J. Mayer and Mrs. Hugh T. Stewart.

Reports were read by chairmen. Mrs. Paul Leigh, Community Chest colonel, announced a total of $425 collected by her committee to date with a few more donations yet to be received.

Mrs. Evelyn H. Carlson, literature section chairman, announced that the November meeting of the section had been advanced to Friday, Nov. 22, because of Thanksgiving. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lawrence G. Brian, 265 Nevada St. at 1:30 o'clock, when Mrs. H. J. Mayer, a new club member, will give a review of the play "Lady Windermere's Fan."

Plans for the children's Christmas party will be discussed at the next luncheon meeting of the Merry League on Thursday, Nov. 21 at 12:30 o'clock, announced Mrs. Howard P. Anderson, section chairman. Mrs. Miles MacDonald will be chairman of the party.

Mrs. Kenneth Steiner was appointed acting chairman of the Garden Section in the absence of Mrs. John Lawrence, who is currently in Los Angeles. Reservations were taken yesterday for the Thursday, Nov. 14, when Mrs. Max Garden Section luncheon next Barnhart of the Perennial Gardens in San Carlos will speak.

It was also announced by Mrs. Clarence Selden that the Choral Section would be discontinued for the present because the director, Mrs. Dinga van den Berg, is planning a trip to Holland.

Flower decorations of autumn colored chrysanthemums and leaves on the stage and begonias at the speaker's table were the work of Mrs. Selden and Mrs. Arthur Bloomquist.

Tea hostesses were Mmes. Gertrude Beeger, L. G. Brian, H. R. Cossitt, A. A. Childs and Miss Florence Bellis.

The BPWC Meet

Miss Wilhelmina Harper was hostess to the executive board and guests of the Business and Professional Women's Club at her home at 30 Hudson St., on Wednesday evening. Guests were Grace Thorning, Caroline Coffinberry, Florence Magruder, Anna Bennett Robb, Clara Dills and May Simpson. President Thelma Eberhardt, presided.

May Simpson, Community Chest colonel, gave a report on the recent drive and extended thanks to those who had assisted her.

Plans for the initiation of members accepted during the current club year were made. Initiation will be held on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13, at the First Congregational Church and Nelle Miramontes, chairman, will be assisted in arrangements by Clara Dills, Alice Reinhard, Emma Stribling and Lelah Butts. All members have been urged to attend.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next dinner meeting will be held on Nov. 20, when Mrs. Rena Brewster, chief of the division of industrial welfare of the state of California, will be the guest speaker.

Menlo Came Through

Menlo Park has contributed $4250 to the Community Chest during the drive which ended Friday. Mrs. Malcolm G. Paterson, chairman, announced Monday. The community topped its $4000 quota by the last week of October, at the end of the regular chest drive, before it was extended for an extra week by chest officials.

Fourteen precinct chairmen served with Mrs. Paterson, and she had a crew of 56 workers in all.

Although the regular drive is over, Mrs. Paterson declared that she would be "very glad to accept" checks from anyone who did not contribute during the drive.

Jury Fails to Agree

A two-day trial of Howard W. Ward of Daly City, charged with lewd and lascivious conduct involving a 5-year-old Burlingame girl at a house party, ended in a hung jury Friday afternoon.

The jury failed to reach a verdict after being out for 2½ hours and drew a reprimand from Superior Court Judge Edmund Scott, who declared he was surprised the jury could not reach an agreement. He said a verdict should have been reached in 5 minutes.

Ward was arraigned Sept. 3. The offense allegedly took place Aug. 3 at a house party given by the girl's parents.

The Prowler

A PUBLICITY STORY from the Las Vegas (Nev.) Chamber of Commerce quotes a travel authority as saying that the most repressed tourists these days are elderly women, single or widowed. The touring agent has come West to arrange "package" trips for his clients, mainly women in the 60s and 70s, who, having led sheltered lives and known about the colorful (alias semi-wicked) spots only by hearsay, think an itinerary of nightclubs and gaming resorts would be glamorous and thrilling.

In the prewar days, women in search of such glamor went abroad and patronized the Riviera resorts. Now they are exploring the corresponding spots in this country.

Almost any one of those touring parties will include women who would not think of visiting the taverns and nightclubs of their own localities, and who would be shocked to learn that some of their own friends had done so. But distance from home makes a difference in one's perspective on wickedness. When on trips far from home, a "rubberneck" tour of wicked spots is not a sinful indulgence. It is "seeing life." Money is spent on such sightseeing, to be sure. But spending money to watch other people sin in alien territory is not the same as doing the sinning yourself in your own locality.

I SEE BY THE PAPERS that Hollywood has two twin sisters, aged two years, who are exactly alike in every particular. The babes take part in the movies, and are so indistinguishable that either one can take up the role of the other at any point without possibility of detection by the audience. This is a great help to the movie producers because of the law that limits to a short period each day the time a baby can "work" in pictures.

Projecting our imagination into the future, we can foresee how this extreme likeness of the twins may be of practical help in other situations. At school they may be able to "swap" examinations, one substituting for the other in courses in which one may have superior ability. Think, too, of a situation when one girl, after having made one date has a chance to spend the evening more profitably with another lad, but doesn't want to offend the first one. Sister may substitute for her.

And so on, indefinitely.

SPEAKING OF SCHOOL examinations, I am reminded of an occasion when a student who had a straight A record in her courses received one paper back marked C-plus.

The corrector explained that her paper was A grade, "But you have been getting too many As," he said. "I thought it would be good for you to get only a C-plus for a change."

A more asinine line of reasoning I can scarcely imagine. Would that same corrector have reversed the procedure for a straight D student, for example, giving him an undeserved A just to break the monotony and elevate his morale?

Or how would he have liked to have the bank teller shortchange him when cashing a check, saying, "You have been getting the correct amount too often. It will be good for you to be cheated once, just for the experience."?

★ ★ ★

I JUST READ SOMEWHERE that buildings under construction are not taxable. Surely that fact cannot be generally known. Otherwise there would be thousands of home owners seeking to evade their taxes by declaring the structures unfinished because of a room, terrace, dormer window or something they plan to have added some day.

VAGRANT THOUGHT: What looks deader, more abandoned or less useful than an election campaign headquarters the day after election?

I AM IMPRESSED BY the frequency with which I hear these two remarks from readers: "I don't always agree with you," and "I usually agree with you."

The former remark is accompanied usually by either a sinister glare or a sort of hurt expression, the implication in the one case being that I have committed an unpardonable offense by being heretical, and in the other that I have proved a sad disappointment.

The other remark is spoken usually in an unctuous tone such as one would employ when patting a dog on the head and saying, "Nice doggie," and is accompanied often by a very pleased facial expression.

The highest duty of a speaker or writer, it seems, is to soothe his listeners or readers by uttering thoughts with which they are in complete harmony.

Chest Campaign

Eight days after the Redwood City Community Chest launched its emergency campaign to raise a $5000 deficit, that figure has been cut in half it was announced Saturday by Ray Spangler, campaign Manager.

Conclusion of the Sequoia High School faculty campaign Friday boosted the campaign collections over the $27,500 mark. The faculty contributed $902.

The chest goal this year is $30,000 and the deficit today stood at $2454.

"We have made every effort possible with volunteer workers to cover the Redwood City residential district," Spangler said. "Some areas and some homes simply have not been and will not be contacted. Those who have not been contacted and who wish to contribute may do so at the Tribune office."

The $30,000 goal, it was explained, was established as the minimum requirement for the nine Community Chest agencies for 1947. Demands of practically every agency were cut. Some foreign appeals were excluded, yet Redwood City is growing and the needs of the agencies is increasing accordingly.

The participating agencies: Girl Scouts, $4500; YMCA, $6000; McKinley PTA Clinic, $300; San Mateo Preventorium $750; Catholic Social Service, $1200; Salvation Army, $1150; Woodside Youth Activities, $800; USO, $2000.

Another Robbery

Five Palo Alto Negroes are in the County Jail here Monday for investigation in connection with the robbery of Raymond Gomez, 45, 1120 Jefferson Ave. early Saturday morning.

Gomez told sheriff's officers that while he was walking along Main St. the five picked him up in their car, and drove to Bayshore Hwy. One of them pulled a knife on him, he said, took his wrist watch and $32, and dumped him out of the car east of San Carlos.

The five, arrested Saturday night, are John Kinnon, 25; Ambrose Phillips, 39; Willie Roy Eagle, 32; Henry Walker, 51, and Baldridge Woods, 22.

Kinnon was smoking a marijuana cigaret when he was arrested, Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore said, and carried an envelope of the drug in his pocket.

A Local Inquest

A coroner's jury exonerated persons involved in the traffic deaths of five Peninsula men and charged an unknown hit-run driver with the death of a sixth at an inquest held here Friday at the Franklin & Crowe Mortuary.

According to the jury's verdicts Charles Ferguson, a pedestrian, was killed by an unknown hit-run driver in San Mateo Oct. 18.

Benjamin Lewis, killed by a Southern Pacific train at Hillsdale station, died as the result of an unavoidable accident.

John Rhodes, pedestrian, was killed in San Mateo Oct. 11 as the result of an unavoidable accident.

Baldesori Brusatore, pedestrian, was killed in San Mateo Oct. 2, as the result of an unavoidable accident.

Charles Jones, pedestrian, was killed in San Mateo Oct. 2, as the result of an unavoidable accident.

Joseph Figuerido was killed in an automobile collision in San Bruno Oct. 11 as a result of negligence on the part of the deceased.

Elizabeth P. Butler

Mrs. Butler, wife of Ralph M. Butler of Napa and mother of Mrs. Amy Tennant of Colusa, died in Napa Saturday.

Webber Funeral Parlors, Napa, were in charge of services. Interment was at Tulocay Cemetery.

The San Carlos Chest

The San Carlos Community Chest drive ended Saturday with $4600—little more than half the $7500 quota—collected, drive chairman C. A. Phelan announced Saturday.

Phelan said he was "disappointed" at falling so far short of the goal," and declared that he is preparing a statement on the drive to be issued Monday.

Burnham was taken to his home after the accident which occurred when his car collided with the rear of the truck driven by Calvin W. Tolosano, 24, of San Jose.

Their Own Program

First of a series of radio programs by Sequoia High School students, staged expressly for the Cherokee tribe and other interested parties, was broadcast last week over KVSM in San Mateo.

The program is planned as a weekly feature each Wednesday from 4 to 4:15 p.m., and will be written, directed and broadcast by young Sequoians themselves. Interviews, records, sports flashes on P.A.L. games and personalities, and news of the high school will be broadcast on the program.

On last week's initial airing, George Terhune, student announcer, introduced Dorothy Fitzmaurice as mistress of ceremonies. School news was reported by Margaret Hofheinz, Supt. A. C. Argo was interviewed by Carol Halper, and music was supplied by the a cappella "Treble Clef" vocal group. The program closed with a rapid-fire sportcast by Don Davis and Bob Jessen.

Next Wednesday the students will interview Asst. Football Coach Clyde Devine, and gala programs are scheduled for Thanksgiving and Christmas. The Thanksgiving show, Nov. 27, will feature an interview with the football coaches and captains of the Palo Alto and Sequoia football teams, and the Christmas show will include a play, carols, and other school features.

Guiding hand behind the development of these future radio career men and women is Mrs. Bernice Sterling of the high school radio workshop.

Thieves at Work

Theft of $200 worth of miscellaneous tools and equipment from a tractor on a state construction job seven miles north of the Santa Cruz County line on Coast Hwy. 1 was reported to the sheriff's office here Frdiay night by Peter Sorensen, Redwood City contractor.

The tools and equipment were stolen Wednesday, Sorensen reported.

Court Madrone

Three men were initiated this week into Court Madrone 158, Foresters of America, during ceremonies at Foresters Hall.

Initiates include Nick Nasanjo, Chester M. Paise, and Howard Wiehams.

The local degree team performed the ritual.

The Girl Scouts

Winter activities of the Girl Scouts were discussed on Wednesday morning, when the Leader's Assn. met at the Sequoia High School with Mrs. D. M. Chapman of San Carlos, chairman for the day.

Mrs. H. A. Jones gave a talk on nature study and demonstrated various table settings. Mrs. Antone Stam of Belmont set up a gift table displaying work recently completed by Intermediate Scouts. She also distributed pamphlets explaining ways to make the various items and where to obtain materials.

A song session was led by Mrs. James Cochran of Woodside, who introduced new and old songs to be rehearsed for the coming holiday season.

Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn, finance chairman, lauded the growth of Girl Scouts of Sequoia District since its small beginning 22 years ago. She gave an overall picture of finance from the national organization to the smallest group and clarified several issues confronting the leaders. Thrift was the keynote of the day.

Mrs. J. Roy Moore gave a report on summer activities at Woodhaven, the program featuring nature study, craftsmanship, archery, folk dancing and pioneering. The fathers of the girls and the troop leaders, who assisted in opening Woodhaven, were extended thanks.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. R. C. Nobs, F. A. Lefler, R. Lubich, Harold Bozzo, Paul Goebel, L. H. Roach, Agnes Simpson, A. E. Moody, F. Biondi, Fred Kubes, Fred Paul, W. H. A Repeated Crime

Out of the San Mateo County jail on $150 cash bail, Vincent Schulba, 41, 813 Canyon Rd., was arrested Friday night by Redwood City police on a charge of drunk driving—the same charge that put him in jail the first time.

The truck driver was arrested Friday at 11:45 p.m. on Woodside Rd. near Murray Ct. He was taken to jail and this morning his bail for the second offense had not been set. He was arrested Oct. 20 the first time.

Mrs. Henry Russell

Mrs. Henry Potter Russell has been named as an adviser to the American delegation at the coming Paris conference of the United Nations educational, scientific, and cultural organization.

Daughter of the late William H. Crocker of Hillsborough, Mrs. Russell has a wide range of activities. She has been a director of the San Francisco Community Chest since 1935 and in 1944 was elected the first woman president. Winning national recognition for her work, she was elected a board member of the Community Chests and Councils, Inc., with headquarters in New York.

Mrs. Russell plans to leave Saturday for Washington from whence she probably will fly to Paris where the conference begins on Nov. 19, scheduled to continue for about three weeks.

Patron of the arts, Mrs. Russell is a governor of the Symphony Assn., a member of the San Francisco Opera Assn., and a trustee of Mills College.

She is a director of International House at the University of California and has been prominent in Red Cross and AWVS work, was a vice president of the War Chest and has served on the board of the Children's Hospital. In addition, she is a director of the Crocker First National Bank.

Reckless Bus Drivers

Although E. Raymond Cato, chief of the State Highway Patrol, conferred in San Francisco with the bus company and bus drivers' union officials on charges of recklessness on the part of bus drivers, Capt. E. F. Cassell of the San Mateo County office of the California Highway Patrol office said Saturday he had received no instructions from Cato to crack down on bus drivers.

Cato conferred Friday with F. W. Ackerman, Greyhound Lines president, as well as with union officials.

Asst. Chief of Police Michael Riordan of San Francisco ordered increased vigilance by San Francisco police to curb recklessness by bus drivers.

Capt. C. McKeen, chief aide to Cato in Sacramento, revealed records of numerous arrests of bus drivers since January. Citations mainly have covered speeding, improper passing and cutting in.

Cato came to an agreement with Ackerman to send copies of future citations handed bus drivers directly to the Greyhound president for disciplinary action.

How 23,000 new jobs were born

To grow with the West . . . to build and maintain the finest possible telephone service for you . . . a good sized army of men and women is already at work, and more are pitching in every day. In the last five years, we have added more than 23,000 new employees—our total force is now more than 63,000.

It is our purpose to provide telephones for everyone who is waiting just as rapidly as we can and to build an ever-expanding, ever-improving service for the West. Our gross plant construction will aggregate $130,000,000 for this year and, as now visualized, it will exceed $200,000,000 for 1947. It's a big job, but you can be certain we're going ahead fast.

Today, telephone calls on the Pacific Coast have reached a record high of 17,400,000 a day, and until we can get and install all the equipment we need there will sometimes be delays in service. We want you to know we will do our utmost to keep them at a minimum and to hurry the day when service will be even better than ever before.

An ever-improving telephone service at the least cost consistent with good wages and working conditions for our employees and a reasonable return to the thousands of people who have invested in the business.

Another Airport Suit

A group of South San Mateo residents will file suit against the Bay Meadows Airport within the next few weeks asking that the airport be closed and that they be awardeed damages incurred by its current operation.

This was announced Tuesday by Aylett B. Cotton, San Mateo and San Francisco attorney, who said that he would serve the group as associate counsel with the Redwood City law firm of Bullock, Wagstaffe and Daba.

Cotton, who led the fight a few weeks ago to have the airport abated by the city council, said the private suit is not to be confused with any suit the City of San Mateo might file against the flying field.

The city council last week announced that the airport would be allowed 60 days from Nov. 4 in which to have its request for a right-hand traffic pattern approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration and to complete its new runway. In the event neither of these is accomplished in that time, the city council would initiate an injunction suit against the Bay Meadows operators.

Cotton stated that if the right-hand pattern is granted, and that if the new pattern is satisfactory to the South San Mateo residents, the portion of the suit asking that the field be closed would be dropped. He added, however, that in any event, the damage suit would be continued.

Action on the request for a right-hand pattern will be taken in the Santa Monica offices of Joseph S. Marriott, regional administrator for the CAA. At an abatement hearing in the San Mateo City Hall on Sept. 30, Marriott said that so long as Bay Meadows and San Mateo Airports both continue operations, a right-hand traffic pattern is at least two years away. He is reported to have modified his views, however, since the meeting and approval of the right-hand pattern is expected.

A Dangerous Toy

A bullet from a .22 caliber rifle, accidentally discharged while he and his companions were practice firing at targets Monday sent Vernon Smith Jr., 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith of Colma, to the Junipero Serra Hospital.

The bullet pierced young Smith's neck, according to hospital attendants, who declined to give further details of the boy's injury.

The accident occurred about 10 a.m. today in the area between Junipero Serra Hwy. and Skyline Blvd.

Julio Blandini, 12, was wounded slightly when a bullet grazed his head while he was playing with a .28 caliber revolver in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julio Blandini, South San Francisco, Sunday afternoon.

The pistol discharged accidentally, South San Francisco police reported, and the bullet grazed the child's head. The boy was treated at South San Francisco Hospital and transferred to St. Joseph Hospital, South San Francisco, for observation. His condition was reported as "excellent."

Gardening Tips

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

Mrs. F. Freymond of Lincoln, Calif., wants to know "how it is some people can grow beautiful house ferns." She can't get her's going, although she keeps them moist and feeds them commercial fertilizer.

Three factors might be limiting growth materially. Ferns like moisture, but they must have good drainage, too. If the house plants aren't growing, check that water admitted at top can find its way out the bottom.

Also, ferns for the most part like a slightly acid soil mixture. If dampened with hard water for some time, the small amount of soil in the pot might become too akaline. A teaspoonful of soil sulphur would probably correct this condition.

Again, most ferns like considerable organic matter in the soil mixture, and repotting might show that the roots have out-grown the pot, and need cutting back—then repotting with more peatmoss.

Many house ferns fail because there's too little moisture in the air indoors. And one more thing, too much commercial fertilizer can be detrimental. If ferns aren't growing, then they're not using the available plant food, and other factors should be checked before more is added.

Mrs. H. H. Brooks of Sacramento has two questions: "You mentioned Cuthbertson Sweet Peas. Where are they available?" (Garden dealers in every city, town and hamlet of California sell them.)

(2) We have about 50 orange trees, mostly Valencias, and some show a black powder on the leaves and I would like to know if this is a fungi or what. It does not seem to be dirt. Is there some way we can get rid of it, for it also gets on the oranges?"

This is undoubtedly a fungus, many of which attack citrus fruits. While spraying now with a bordeaux mixture might be the answer, the stake in 50 trees justifies the calling of the county commissioner of agriculture, Mr. Morrison. Perhaps some of the leaf samples can be taken to him.

Mrs. F. J. Kroboth asks about pruning bush roses. Newcomers will find that it's best to prune roses in late December or early January, although any dead material should be taken off now. The severe pruning (roses may be taken back 66 per cent) should be done just after the first of the year, however.

Mrs. George Cabral of Richmond canned 48 pints of beans from the trial packet of Morse's 191 received this spring. She sent a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a packet of the Nantes Strongtop carrots. They've been mailed.

And how about you? Have you sent for your trial packet? If not, please do so right away, so's to be in on the experiment and the reports this spring. Send your self-addressed, stamped envelope to Rolly Langley, Redwood City Tribune, Redwood City, Calif. You'll receive enough for at least a 10 foot row—enough to grow more than a dollar's worth at present prices.

C. W. Cumbers of Oakland writes of a sunny 60x4 foot strip, enriched with compost and fertilizer, which is rotated to Flat Dutch Slow Bolting Cabbage, onions, and tomatoes. Of the toms:—

"In your column I read of a party using tin cans with holes in them to irrigate her tomatoes. Having quite a number of 10-inch-high flower pots, I sank one of them behind each tomato plant I put in.

"The method proved perfect for the plants. (Improved Pearsons.) The vines averaged 10 feet in length, trailed on top of the 4 foot trellis I put up every year.

"The value of the irrigation system was proved by the profuse crop of beautiful, large, solid, red, smooth-skinned, even-sized fruit we obtained."

Mrs. H. M. Knowles of San Leandro reports that the larkspur in 1945 (fall offer) turned out to be mixed colors, but that they were pretty anyway, planted between rows of white and blue larkspur.

Which brings to mind the fact that this is a good time to plant more larkspur. Be sure to put a light mulch over them if the rains washed your plantings out in 1945.

H. C Ring has been enjoying tomatoes continuously since July from plantings of Victor and Improved Pearsons. (Those will be the 1947 recommendations, unless something awfully good shows up awfully soon.

She is scheduled to appear for arraignment at an unannounced date before Judge Hugh H. Mullin Jr. in San Mateo to answer complaints filed by three persons who charge her with defrauding them of a total of $4300 on deals for Peninsula property.

At the time of her arrest Nov. 6, Dep. Dist. Atty. John Weeks declared that other complaints against Mrs. Rhodes involving disappearance of $17,000 had been received by his office.

A Successful Meeting

The Northern California Youth Conference on Teen-Age Centers and Youth Councils which attracted 625 young persons and advisors to Sequoia High School Saturday was pronounced a rousing success Monday by Sequoia Dean of Boys Donald L. Bogie.

The turnout, largest in the three-year history of the conference represented delegations from 35 communities in California and Nevada, who gathered at the high school to exchange ideas on methods of running recreational centers for juveniles. Sequoia was chosen as the conference site because of statewide interest in the high school's extra-curricular recreation facilities.

Bogie expressed the appreciation of conference officials for the work of supervising Sequoia faculty members and student committee members who arranged the program, for the cooperation of the Methodist and Episcopal Churches which fed dinner to the delegates, and for the hospitable spirit of 48 Redwood City families who offered lodging.

The County Firemen

A grass fire on Hill 57, near the shipyards of South San Francisco, swept 150 acres Sunday afternoon before it was brought under control by a score of firemen from Brisbane, South San Francisco and the county fire station here.

The fire started at the South San Francisco city limits, and swept by a high wind, raced toward Brisbane. Smoke bollowing up could be seen along stretches of Bayshore Hwy. and in Burlingame.

Two fire trucks from here answered the call for help from South San Francisco fire department. One truck from South San Francisco was already there, and firemen from Brisbane were attempting to smother the fire with sacks.

The fire was under control Monday, although still smouldering.

County firemen Sunday answered calls to two house fires in which little damage was done. A fire in bedding and mattress, caused by a cigaret, was extinguished at 338 Douglas Ave., near Redwood City. Soot which ignited in a chimney at 715 Alameda de las Pulgas burned out with no damage while firemen stood by in event other parts of the house caught fire.

Measuring the needs of tomorrow with a $160,000,000 YARDSTICK

Men and machinery are at work in nearly every section of Northern and Central California on P. G. and E.'s long-range construction and improvement program.

The Company is spending $160,000,000 in a three-year expansion program, largest construction undertaking in its history. We served the excessive wartime load; we are meeting the great postwar industrial expansion; and now we are building to serve the even greater California of tomorrow.

Here is a true yardstick of business progress—$160,000,000 going to work in many communities—in your community. It will provide electric power to drive more machines, to produce more work, to permit more industrial and commercial expansion, and to serve a rapidly growing population with dependable power at lowest rates.

This vast program is more than a stockpile of work built up during war years. It is a long-planned, long-range program in a continuing policy of building ahead to measure the needs of tomorrow.

New power projects in the construction program will add more than half a million horsepower to your electric company's interconnected transmission system. Thus, P. G. and E. will give Northern and Central California a power pool of 3,109,636 horsepower by the end of 1948—one of the largest reservoirs of electric power in the world!

To the Editor: What this country needs is more embryo chess champions. It is a proven fact that in schools where chess is taught there is less juvenile delinquency than in other school districts.

There may be some schools that have a full program, where it is not practical to add the fine art of playing chess. In that case the parents would find it to their advantage to devote one hour a week to develop an interest in this much neglected game.

Think for a moment the good that might be accomplished when more of our children become conscious of the fact that chess is one of the finest games to play in order that their spare time be used to advantage.

Dodge Explains All

City Clerk Ralph S. Dodge explained Wednesday why Hudson St. property owners are being billed for a street improvement project before construction work is completed.

He said that the city council decided it could obtain cheaper bids for the project if it relieved the contractor of the responsibility of handling the bond transactions involved and if the contractor were paid as work progressed rather than at completion of the job.

To accomplish this purpose, Dodge said, the council authorized the issuance of 1911 Act bonds under the 1913 Act procedure. Both the 1911 and the 1913 acts were passed by the California Legislature and both deal with methods of financing street improvement projects.

Following the 1913 Act procedure, Dodge continued, the council had the city engineer set up assessments against each lot before the project was started. It then sent bills on Sept. 4 to each property owner. The property owner was given until Nov. 4 to pay cash for the assessment or allow the bill to go to bonds. Bonds will be issued in the near future against the property of owners who elected not to pay cash, Dodge said.

The bonds to be issued, he concluded, will be 1911 Act bonds.

If the 1911 Act procedure had been followed, Dodge continued, the contractor would have given property owners 30 days after the job was completed to pay their assessments in cash. If they failed to do this, the contractor would have then issued and sold bonds against the properties.

At the Cow Palace

The big trek of the nation's finest livestock, show horses and rodeo animals to the Grand National Livestock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo, which opens Friday night in the Cow Palace at the north end of San Mateo County was in full swing.

As scores of workmen rushed to completion decorations and exhibits in the great Cow Palace arena, royalty of the livestock world poured into the tents and corrals surrounding the vast building.

From Washington came one of the best-known dairy herds in the world, the Carnation Farm, Carnation, Wash., a string of 21 blue-blooded Holstein-Friesians. Wyoming Hereford Ranch of Cheyenne, Wyo., showed up with 21 prize Herefords, who stopped off at the Ogden Livestock Show en route to pick up 13 blue ribbons, including the grand champion bull award.

Capt. Bill Buschbaum unloaded his 12 perfectly matched "Liberty" horses at the Eighth and Brannan team tracks and took them to the Cow Palace where they will open the show each night with their intricate evolutions, performed entirely without instruction by a trainer.

One interesting group was a band of 100 "nurse cows," imported to comfort prize beef calves unweaned and needing more milk than their mothers can provide.

Fred Kressmann, program director and arena director, meanwhile signed up more entrants for the all-star rodeo which may decide the American championship this year.

One of the Cow Palace's three restaurants already is in operation to furnish food for approximately 200 handlers, cow punchers and exhibitors who have taken up residence in the Cow Palace.

The 500 box and tie stalls are nearly half filled and the tanbark arena resounded with the flying hooves of equine stars, practicing for the stiff competition they will encounter in the $1,000,000 horse show.

The great combination livestock show, horse show, rodeo and circus, regarded as "The West's Greatest Show," will formally throw open its doors Friday night for a run of 15 performances, nightly at 7:30 with matinees at 1:30 on Nov. 16, 17, 22, 23 and 24.

Tickets are available at the Crane Box Office, City of Paris Box Office and Sherman Clay's in San Francisco and Oakland.

Two Plead Guilty

Two men pleaded guilty Wednesday to a burglary and asked probation. Superior Court Judge Edmund Scott set Nov. 25 as the date for action on the plea.

Pleading guilty were Frank Shirado and Albert E. Henson who admitted breaking into the Rockaway Quarry Assn. shed and also the Harry Lee Plumbing Co. on Sept. 10 and taking tools and equipment.

A Drunken Brawl

One man was in Community Hospital, another was in the San Mateo County jail and a girl was in the juvenile detention home as the result of a brawl Tuesday night.

Police Lt. S. D. Wood said that Redwood City police first heard of the altercation when Anthony Silva, a cab driver, brought Wallace Stephens, 37, 739 Ramona St., Palo Alto, to the police station. Police booked Stephens for drunkenness and rushed him to the hospital where attaches said he may be suffering from a fractured skull.

Police reports indicate that the trio hired Silva to drive them from Redwood City to a trailer outside city limits near Plant Rubber Co. property on the east side of Bayshore Hwy.

Then Stephens and Eli Rhodes Jr., 29, who has a Redwood City general delivery address, started fighting and Stephens was injured. Silva brought the injured man to the police who then picked up Rhodes at the trailer and a 16-year-old girl.

The girl was booked on a charge of violating the curfew law and Rhodes was booked for drunkenness and en route to the county sheriff. Wood said that since the altercation happened outside city limits it was up to the sheriff to decide what—if anything—the principals in the brawl would be charged with.

Harding Places 3rd

Tabulations Tuesday showed that despite a bad showing last Friday, Left Half Merle Harding of Sequoia High School is the third highest scorer among all Peninsula Athletic League football players. Harding has scored 25 points in circuit outings.

Praise for Our Police

The results of a survey by the FBI shows that more police protection is afforded residents of Redwood City than is provided for people in most American cities of comparable size. The study, just completed, covers all cities with more than 2500 people. It was made in an effort to combat the growth of crime, which has increased 13 per cent during the first half of 1946 over the same period in 1945.

With 17 on the Redwood City Police Dept. payroll, the city has a ratio of 1.53 police employes for every 1000 inhabitants. Comparative figures show an average of only 1.23 police per 1000 for all cities in Redwood City's size group, 10,000 to 25,000 population.

The effectiveness of the Redwood City police force is indicated by its success in keeping local crime at a low level.

MRS. RICHARD McINTOSH returned recently to her home at 1830 Jefferson Ave. from the Palo Alto Hospital, where she recently underwent a serious operation. Latest reports are that Mrs. McIntosh is convalescing slowly.

Gardening Tips

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

Have you and your neighbors sent in for your free trial packet of Nantes Strongtop Carrots? (We want everyone to have a try at this fine, new, flavorful variety, but this offer can't run on forever, you know.) Send your self-addressed stamped envelope to Rolly Langley, c/o the Tribune, Redwood City.

Mrs. Sadie S. Gregory of Berkeley grew corn this Summer, good corn, on poor soil, "mostly stones." Still anything does better if properly nurtured, and that applies to corn, flowers or even a good grouch.

Mrs. Robert King, Sacramento: "We think if we plant the things that grow under ground one time, then next time we plant the things that grow above ground, they do better." (I agree. Crop rotation gives the soil a chance, because each kind of plant takes a different set of chemicals from the soil . . . different proportions, I mean. Also, pests and diseases of one crop are so contagious to another variety.)

Martha S. Rowney, Oakland: "I have two plantings of carrots up now. Will I be able to plant the Nantes Strong top now?"

Nantes carrots can be planted immediately. However, with two plantings up now, if space is scarce, the seed will be perfectly fine for planting in early Spring.

Pittsburg's C. B. Patterson: "Carrots is one vegetable that I have had no luck with, so I am going to plant in 50 per cent peat dirt and 50 per cent sand, and see what I get. If I don't get more than a half dozen plants, I'll give up on carrots. As for the summer garden, what little luck I was having after a good start putting up windbreaks and stakes, along comes the hot spell and we were out of water for over 10 days. Everyone's garden was down for the count around here, although we managed to salvage some peppers and melons. I am now planting my bulbs for Spring flowers. I hope to get a good stand and design. If so, I'll send you a color picture. I have a machine and am in the business of breaking up ground for lawns and gardens, and I am now waiting for a good rain spell so I can go to work."

Sacramento, Mrs. Harmon T. Snider: "Since we are all particularly fond of carrots, especially raw, we're very interested in the new variety . . . I love gardens, but not gardening. It so happens I've always had the benefit of a nice garden without having to work for it. Since my father is an ardent gardener and my husband, reared on a farm, now makes small-scale farming a hobby, we have a garden without my effort."

(Stiil, Mrs. Snider DID send for the trial offer. And I'll bet she gets her finger in the pie every once in a while. Smart woman, in any event.)

Mrs. H. F. Beedzien of Oakland, didn't have as good a garden this year as last, wonders if the sawdust mulch, to hold the moisture, was the reason. . . . It would depend somewhat on whether the soil underneath the mulch was given enough water. The sawdust in itself should not have done any damage.

Oakland's Mrs. Martha McKarg gives the Slow Bolting Flat Dutch Cabbage almost loving (and rare) care. Says she, "One of your correspondents said she never raised anything but leaves. I carefully trained the leaves of my cabbage every day by gently smoothing the inside of the leaves and rounding them toward the center leaves. I gave them an abundance of water with a sprinkler, on top and irrigated them also with small ditches. The cabbages were large, firm and sweet with hardly any core. I had only a small space, yet I had two dozen large heads.

Proper spacing, watering and feeding will produce good cabbage without the gentle smoothing. (Indeed, I'm afraid in most cases, the cabbage would feel it was overcoddled and pampered.)

"Can I plant primroses now, and is it time to plant Larkspur? How soon I can plant more sweet peas—those special ones you mentioned. I bought all colors, I believe they are the Cuthbertsons. I never planted them so I want to as soon as it's time." Mrs. Marie Steine, Oakland.

Plant the sweetpeas and larkspur immediately, the sooner the better. Primulas can be planted now, although it would have been better several months ago. They con also be planted early next Spring.

Two Men Sought

Approximately $300 worth of clothing and jewelry were taken in two San Mateo burglaries Monday, but police have descriptions of two suspects in one of the crimes.

The men were seen leaving the Hotel Vendome Monday, carrying suitcases identified as those stolen from rooms during the day. Police have their names and descriptions. Four persons at the hotel reported their rooms ransacked, and clothing and suitcases valued at a total of $228 taken.

In the second burglary Monday George Eckhardt reported his home was entered between 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. and that two revolvers and jewelry were taken after the rooms were ransacked.

A Second Tragedy

Funeral services for little Richard Howard Gardenier, 3½-year-old San Francisco boy who was drowned in the swimming pool at the home of his grandparents, the Richard tum Sudens, at Emerald Lake Sunday, were held Wednesday afternoon in San Francisco.

Services were conducted at 2 p.m. at St. Luke's Church. Cremation followed at Woodlawn. N. Gray & Co., Divisadero at Post, San Francisco, in charge of arrangements

The tragedy climaxed a barbecue picnic staged for little Richard and his brother, Anthony, 7, and for two neighbor children, Martin McGurrin, 9, and his sister, Katherine, 4.

Efforts of inhalator squads from the Woodside and Redwood City Fire Depts. failed to revive Richard after he was discovered by his grandmother floating in the swimming pool in about three feet of water.

Richard was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Crane Gardenier.

The child was the second grandson of the tum Sudens and second namesake of Mr. tum Suden to meet with tragedy in the past year. In November last year Dickie tum Suden, Richard's cousin, mysteriously vanished from his home near Downieville. Hundreds of army personnel joined the search and fears of a possible kidnaping put the FBI on the case, to no avail.

He Is Much Better

Doctors were reported planning to operate Tuesday for a bullet lodged in the throat of Vernon Smith, 16-year-old San Francisco boy who was accidentally shot yesterday while doing some target practice with two chums.

The boy is in Community Hospital, where he was transferred after receiving emergency treatment at Junipero Serra Hospital Monday. His condition is listed as "fair."

Vernon Alfred Galliano, 16, and Paul Galliano, 13, two Daly City brothers, had been shooting at birds, rabbits and targets at the end of School St. near Skyline Blvd. prior to the accident, Dep. Sheriffs George Creel and Robert Lynch, who made the investigation, said. They had broken down the .22 caliber rifle.

According to the officers, Alfred handed the barrel to Paul, who swung the gun about and pulled the trigger. The gun discharged and the bullet struck Vernon in the jaw, lodging in his neck.

Seventy-one men and boys attended the Baptist Men's Brotherhood father-son banquet at the First Baptist Church Monday at which Coach Albert Terremere and five members of the Sequoia High School varsity football team were guests.

Coach Terremere spoke on the history of football and drew diagrams of basic grid plays. Members of the football team present were Capt. Jim Yeager, an all-Peninsula Athletic League guard last year and star fullback this year; Bard Berry, guard; Marvin Fitts, right half; Coleman Bridges, fullback, and Bud McDonald, tackle.

Motion pictures of football games were shown by Chet Wilson, toastmaster. Marylin Dahlin, head yell leader at Sequoia last year, led yells. Sequoia colors were used as centerpieces.

Others taking part on the program were Everett Carlson, program chairman; Charles Heidel, devotions; Bill Fain, games; Bill Stone, benediction; the Rev. Walter B. Smith, who gave a toast on behalf of the fathers to the sons, and his son, Sam Smith, Sequoia athlete, who gave a toast to the dads on behalf of the boys.

The Women's Missionary Society prepared the turkey dinner. Cecil Martin, president, presided at the business session.

Several members of the group decided to play volleyball at Sequoia each Wednesday from 6 to 7 p.m.

Next meeting of the brotherhood will be a Christmas party, Dec. 16, at which time wives of the members—and Santa Claus—will be guests.

Hospital Group

Members of the Sequoia Hospital District Committee conducted a meeting Monday aimed at ending all future meetings of the group. Having won an election by a large majority indicating that voters favored creation of a hospital district, the committee is at present straightening out its paper work.

When the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors completes its canvass of last week's election, it will appoint a five-member board of directors for the new district and the committee will be dissolved.

The committee was formed two years ago by the Redwood City city council. It orginally consisted of Mrs. Henry Beeger, Mrs. Florence Donnelly, C. C. Armstrong, Edwin Holmquist and William Graham.

Once the new board of directors is appointed it will be charged with raising the funds for the construction of a hospital to serve the approximate geographical limits now occupied by the Sequoia Union High School Dist.

Students Preparing Nativity Scene

Sequoia High School art students under the direction of Teacher Lawrence A. Tompsett and Supt. Clarence Argo are already at work preparing 12 figures and animals for a life-size nativity scene, E. W. (Ned) Butler, chamber of commerce manager, said Saturday.

The scene will be put into position for the Christmas season on Dec. 5 on the front lawn of Central School, he continued.

Electrolier decorations and a children's' party, other feathers of the chamber program, are being prepared also. Butler said that Keith Cole, Christmas committee chairman, had already ordered most of the electrolier decorations.

Half of a $3000 sum needed to finance the program has already been collected and Cole urged that merchants send in the other $1500 as soon as possible in order that he might finish ordering materials.

A Planners Group

Problems of the small home owner in planning an environment for better living were discussed this week by a group of six Peninsula landscape architects.

Holding their first meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cobbledick in Menlo Park, were the following members of the Association of Landscape Architects of San Francisco Region; Mrs. Willa Cloys Carmack of San Carlos, Mrs. Geraldine Knight Scott and Miss Catherine Imlay of San Jose, Allen H. Reid of Palo Alto, John T. Boucher of San Carlos, and Cobbledick.

Workable methods were discussed whereby site and garden planning services usually identified with larger homes and estates could be made available to the small home owner or returning veteran on a basis all could afford, Cobbledick said. Essential to the scheme would be active participation in certain stages of the planning and execution of the work by the home owner or veteran, he added.

After the meeting the landscape architects saw a preview of a colored movie of the recent San Mateo County Fiesta.

Mr. Clive M. Saiz, for fourteen years editor of the San Mateo County Teacher's Assn. bulletin, has taken over duties as manager of the Division of Placement of the association with offices at 2207 Shattuck Ave., Berkeley. For the past 16 years, Mr. Saiz has been social science teacher at Jefferson Union High School, Daly City. President Andrew Spinas of the San Mateo County Teachers' Assn. stated today that a new editor of the bulletin has not been chosen.

Compulsory Health Plan

California's legislature will have before it when it convenes in January a report and recommendations on the controversial prepayment plan for medical and hospital care.

This was reported Tuesday by Sen. Byrl R. Salsman, chairman of the Senate Interim Committee on prepayment of medical and hospital care.

He said it was impossible to tell at this time whether the committee would urge adoption of prepaid medical care under a state system or would oppose such a plan.

Salsman said the committee had employed research experts to study the plan, known as compulsory health insurance, and that another public meeting of the committee may be held before the legislature convenes. One public meeting was held last January in Sacramento.

The question of public meetings was raised yesterday by Miss Crystal McLean, executive secretary of Patients United, an organization, she said, devoted to getting a compulsory insurance plan into effect under state law.

Miss McLean, a former resident of Palo Alto, said Salsman's committee had held closed meetings and had "sidetracked" the issue.

Salsman emphasized that although public meetings on the subject may be held by the committee before it completes its report, there is very little to be gained by holding public meetings at this time."

Mrs. Paget Testifies

Name of a Redwood City woman today entered the case of Arthur L. (The Voice) Bell and his Church of the Golden Rule before Federal Bankruptcy Referee Burton Wyman in San Francisco Monday.

Mrs. Nellie D. Paget of Redwood City testified she deeded four lots, two of which she occupied on Middlefield Rd. here, to the church in 1942.

Bell claimed on the witness stand, however, that the property was not a legal asset since Mrs. Paget was merely a "student minister," and the deeds were not to have been accepted until she became a full fledged church member.

Bell is accused of accepting numerous deeds to property without their being listed as legal assets.

Man Pleads Guilty

Henry H. Williams of San Francisco today pleaded guilty to transporting narcotics before Judge A. R. Cotton in San Mateo County Superior Court. He will be sentenced Friday.

Williams was arrested Aug. 15 as he alighted from an airplane at Mills Field. At that time 12 pounds of narcotics were found in his possession.

They Support The Vets

National recognition has been given the Veterans' Hospital Christmas Committee of the Peninsula, the president, A. H. Sagehorn, said Tuesday in explaining that he received a request from W. H. Orion of the national chief of special services office at the Veterans' Administration headquarters in Washington, D. C., asking for details of the Peninsula organization so that it might serve as a model for other areas in the United States.

The function of this county committee, now in its second year, is to provide a 10-day Yuletide celebration at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Palo Alto, Sagehorn explained.

Speaking this week at the launching of the 1946 campaign for funds from county groups, Sagehorn called a mass meeting Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. at the San Mateo City Hall to answer the many queries concerning the committee.

Every chairman on the executive committee, headed by George Mann, reported at that time he said, and added, "the meeting was open to the public and we would like to have a capacity crowd."

Taking part in the program with Sagehorn were Edward F. Foley, public relations chairman of the committee, and Jackson Green, head of recreation and entertainment at the hospital. Green illustrated how the patients seem most responsive at the Christmas season and it was the hope of the hospital with the assistance of this committee to have "every ward seem to the patient" like a regular living room at home at Christmas.

He explained that there are 17 wards, all of which have to be planned individually as to gifts and decorations.

All this will require a large sum of money, Sagehorn said, but he had every anticipation a full plan of execution could be put into effect, for a visit down there would convince anyone of the slogan the committee might well adopt. "Lest We Forget." "It shall be our pledge," he added, "that not one patient is overlooked."
